

The Glorious Music of Life

19-20 Outstanding Student Awardee

Selina Tse

Growing up is like a piece of music, and the journey of growth in LMC is indeed a heartening one. I am honored to be able to share with you the orchestration of my growth.

Not only does a beautiful performance of music require an excellent performer, but it also demands a brilliant composer. LMC is the composer of my song of growth, and I am the performer of the music.

When I first came to LMC, I could only play monotonous and unremarkable tunes. I came from an ordinary primary school, the faces I met were all new to me. Yet, on the day of HKAT, I encountered a lot of teachers and senior schoolmates who always wore cordial smiles. I knew that I was going to enjoy an exciting and extraordinary journey in this warm greenhouse. Joyful music was going to be composed.

After six years of school life in LMC, a mesmerizing piece of music is created. Listening to the sharing and morals brought by teachers in morning assemblies, hanging out with friends in classrooms, preparing for examinations with classmates in the table tennis area are all unforgettable memories. These scenes act like different musical notes, integrating to give rise to a breathtaking movement. Through different activities, the abilities and attitudes nurtured, such as persistence and organization skills, are no less precious than the knowledge I have acquired.

Intonation and dynamics are indispensable parts in a musical piece. Likewise, on our ways to success, ups and downs are inevitable. Everyone would hope to get rewards immediately after paying effort. However, life is not always the way we want it to be. Back in Form 4, the Girls' Choir was well prepared to encounter the challenges in the music festival, striving for the first place in the competition. Unfortunately, we were only the first runner up. Buddies around me were discouraged and upset, regretting that we could not get the champion as the parting gift to our conductor —Ms. Ng. The failure did not dampen our determination and persistence. Instead, it reminded us to pay more effort in all upcoming choir practices. Lastly, the School

Choir was recognized as the best mixed choir in the next Music Festival, marking a perfect ending for all Form 5 members. Isn't an enthralling song brimming with various emotion much better than a predictable tune?

A single instrument can hardly perform a song with vibrance and power. With the help of teachers and schoolmates in LMC, my song of growth is augmented from a simple melody to a grand symphony. I can still vividly remember every scene of my secondary school life, as well as every schoolmates and teachers who have shaped me into a better person. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to you all. Indeed, having met all of you LMC is my honor and pleasure.

To end my sharing, I would like to describe LMC as a fruitful composer, writing a unique song of growth for every student, while our heavenly father is the director of our lives, leading us to walk on a path that suits us the most. Even when we are engulfed in complete darkness, he will act as a candle, lighting up the road in front of us and guiding us past difficulties. We ourselves, are performers, presenting our unique music of growth.

'It's a dark world, be the light.' We ought to understand our responsibilities and missions and try our best to contribute to the society. Your effort will not be pathetic and meaningless. Insignificant droplets can form a ferocious river, dim lights can shine brightly together. Together, our songs will be amplified into a glorious symphony.

I hope that my song of growth can resonate with yours. I wish all of us can learn to pass it on—pass our warmth and joy to people surrounding us. Be determined and diligent, so that we can achieve our ultimate goal one day.
